

KNOW YOUR ADDRESS

Do you know what an address is? It's not a piece of ladies clothing. It is your house number, street name, town, and state so someone can know exactly which house is yours.

- Learn your address and write it out five times on three separate days.
- Talk with your parents about when and who is a safe person to give your address to, and when and who is not.

Knowing your address is an important thing to know. If you ever get lost, knowing your address would be a super useful thing so you can tell a police officer or another person of authority.

Throughout your life, you'll have to give your address so people can find your house and so you can have things delivered to your house.

In fact, knowing your address is one of the most important pieces of information that you'll be expected to know by all sorts of people, so learning it now is a great start.
